Alice Green, a 48-year-old female, was seen for a surgery consultation on March 10, 2024, with Dr. Emily White (EWhite). Alice, living at 987 Elm Rd, Denver, CO, 80203, has a history of chronic back pain, which has progressively worsened over the past year. During the consultation, Dr. White reviewed Alice's previous treatments, including physical therapy and pain medication, which provided only temporary relief. Alice expressed her concern about the impact of her condition on her daily activities, especially her job as a school teacher. Her brother, Robert Green, accompanied her and provided additional insights into her reduced mobility and increased dependency on pain medications. An MRI scan taken two weeks prior was reviewed, showing significant disc herniation at L4-L5. Surgery was discussed as a viable option, given the patient's history and current symptoms. Alice's medical record number SC20240310-356 was referenced throughout the consultation. Her insurance details, Medicaid (ID: MD-55503-56), were updated in her file, along with her social security number 234-56-7890. Dr. White advised Alice to consider the surgery, explaining the risks and benefits in detail. A follow-up appointment was scheduled for two weeks later to finalize the decision.
