Emily Johnson, a 14-year-old female, presented to the ER on January 20, 2024, accompanied by her father, Michael Johnson. The patient complained of severe abdominal pain and nausea. Dr. Sarah Kline (SKline) noted Emily's history of similar episodes in the past, suspecting a possible gastrointestinal issue. Emily, residing at 1425 Maple Ave, Springfield, IL, 62704, was previously admitted to our facility for a similar complaint. During this visit, she was notably distressed and reported the pain intensity as 8 on a scale of 10. Vitals taken on admission included a temperature of 98.6°F, a heart rate of 88 bpm, and a blood pressure of 120/80 mmHg. Lab tests were ordered, including a CBC and an abdominal ultrasound, as Dr. Kline wanted to rule out appendicitis or an ovarian cyst, considering her age and symptoms. Emily's mother, Julia Johnson, reached out on the phone number 555-0134 to inquire about her daughter's condition. The patient's medical record number ER20240120-159 was used for documentation. Her insurance, Blue Cross Blue Shield (ID: BCBS-55501-34), was verified for coverage of the procedures. Emily's social security number 123-45-6789 was recorded for billing purposes. The ultrasound, thankfully, did not reveal any acute pathology.
